Take care of the proper protection of the screens and lens of your camera. Telesin OA-FLM-008 protective film will help you with this, which is distinguished by high resistance to scratches and stains. The accessory is also very easy to install and does not affect the comfort of the device - it allows you to operate it comfortably by touch and ensures excellent image quality.

Reliable protection

Telesin protective film will protect the lens and screens of your camera from scratches, it will also ensure that no unsightly fingerprints or greasy stains remain on them. What's more, the accessory adheres perfectly to the device - don't worry about dust or other contaminants getting under it.

Hassle-free installation

Installation of the film will not cause you any problem. Just first wipe the screen or lens with the included cloth, and then stick the accessory on. Forget about annoying air bubbles that are difficult to remove! You also don't have to worry about the film peeling off or falling off.

Comfort of use

Don't worry that the film will affect the comfort of the camera. After applying it, the device's screen will still respond instantly to touch, so you can enjoy smooth, comfortable operation. The accessory will also not darken the display or degrade the image quality. Thanks to a special anti-reflective coating, the film will provide vivid, perfectly reproduced colors.
