Wireless Controller / Thunderrobot G50 Gamepad (Black)

Ready for an amazing gaming experience? The Thunderrobot G50 Gamepad utilizes a Raytheon integrated circuit that optimizes its performance, allowing you to seamlessly conquer new levels and explore undiscovered corners of the gaming world! G50 features two independent motors responsible for vibrations, making in-game events even more realistic, surprising, and shocking. Choose from three different modes to achieve your goals! The controller grips have a laser-etched texture to prevent slipping and are resistant to sweat. Want to stand out? The upper side panels are interchangeable - you can add character to your gamepad with various Thunderrobot overlays! Playing on your phone or Nintendo Switch? Find out below why G50 is the perfect choice.

Bluetooth 5.0

You know that feeling when you do a dodge at the same time in the game and in reality? With wireless connectivity, you can experience the whole gamut of emotions without any limitations. Take the pad triumphantly into the air with Bluetooth 5.0, thanks to which you can connect to your Switch, phones, but also to your PC! The latency is comparable to wired controllers providing you with fantastic synchronization of the pad with the game.

3 Operating Modes

The Thunderrobot G50 gives you the option to use three different modes. The first is the standard mode, recognizable by the blue circle around the joystick. The second is the TURBO mode, which allows you to continuously shoot without repeatedly pressing the button, extending the lifespan of your gamepad. In this mode, the circle lights up in red. The programmer mode, indicated by a pink border, allows you to customize the buttons to your preferences, making gamepad usage even more natural for you.

High-Quality Construction

The gamepad has been crafted with attention to detail and the use of high-quality materials to ensure your enjoyment for as long as possible. Durable plastic with different textures, rubberized and illuminated elements make the controller stand out with minimalist elegance while maintaining interesting accents. The ergonomic design ensures comfortable grip, allowing you to play without discomfort.

Buttons and Joysticks

The joysticks feature a rubberized textured surface that prevents your thumbs from slipping. Their operation is smooth, with the right amount of responsiveness, just like the bumpers and triggers. The gamepad includes a D-pad, ABXY buttons, as well as HOME, TURBO, MODE, BACK, and start buttons. Additionally, there are 4 buttons on the back and 2 at the front bottom to adjust the brightness of the backlight and vibration intensity.
