Esperanza EA137R gel mouse pad (red)

Esperanza EA137R is a functional addition to any workstation. Its unique features, such as adaptation to the shape of the wrists and non-slip bottom, make working with the mouse more comfortable and less stressful for the wrists. The easy-to-clean design and red color add an extra charm to it, matching any office or home desk.

Ergonomic design for wrist comfort

The Esperanza EA137R pad was designed with the user's health in mind. The gel base conforms to the shape of the wrists, helping to keep them in the correct position. This makes working with a mouse for long hours less taxing and prevents fatigue and potential wrist problems.

Precise response for all types of mice

This mouse pad is ideal for both optical and laser mice. Thanks to its smooth surface, it provides high-precision mouse movement, which is crucial for both office work and gaming or other tasks that require precise control.

Non-slip and easy to clean

The EA137R mousepad from Esperanza is equipped with a non-slip underside, making it stable on the desk, regardless of the intensity of mouse movements. In addition, its surface is easy to keep clean, which is important in maintaining the hygiene of the workstation.
