Portable Mosquito Repellent Flextail Light Repel (Green)

Meet Flextail Light Repel - a modern, portable mosquito repellent, perfect for anyone who values peace and comfort while spending time outdoors. With its lightweight design, universal design, and advanced technology, Light Repel becomes a reliable companion both during evening gatherings on the terrace and during mountain expeditions. Discover its key features that ensure efficiency and ease of use.

Versatile Placement

Flextail Light Repel is designed with flexible usage in mind. You can easily place it on a table or other flat surface, making it an ideal solution for evenings in the garden. Its practical design also allows for attachment to a backpack, which is invaluable during hiking or camping trips.

Two Repellent Modes

This device offers two mosquito repellent modes - within a 3-meter radius for smaller spaces or a powerful 9-meter range for larger coverage. These options allow for adjusting the device's effectiveness to specific needs, providing protection in both tight and expansive areas.

Innovative Activation Technology

Light Repel uses unique technology that activates the repellent using heat and keeps mosquitoes away. This innovative solution enhances the device's effectiveness while maintaining its energy efficiency.

Two Heating Chambers

The device is equipped with two heating chambers located on both sides, allowing for the choice between two-sided or one-sided operation. This flexible approach enables optimal adaptation to different scenarios - whether it's relaxing in the garden or camping in the forest.

Lightweight and Durable

It weighs only 23g, making Flextail Light Repel one of the lightest devices on the market. Additionally, its IP4 waterproof rating ensures reliability even in challenging weather conditions. Thanks to the USB-C charging interface, charging is quick and convenient.
