Botley 2.0 the Coding Robot Activity Set Learning Resources LER 2938

The Botley 2.0 Activity Set for learning coding will help your child develop useful skills such as basic programming, critical, logical, and analytical thinking, problem-solving, spatial imagination, teamwork, and more. It includes a small robot that can be programmed to move along designated paths and perform various tasks. Moreover, the device easily detects objects and operates in darkness. The product is suitable for children aged 5 and up.

Learning programming through play

The set includes many elements such as boards, sticks, coding cards, cubes, and balls. With their help, you can create elaborate paths and arenas for the robot. There are also special detachable arms that allow Botley 2.0 to move various objects and perform other interesting tasks. Programming the device is facilitated by the included remote control - with it, the child can easily create various functions, loops, conditional tasks, and more. Young users can code up to 150 steps in 6 different directions - the possibilities are truly vast!

A versatile robot

The main part of the Botley 2.0 robot set can not only move along programmed paths and move objects but can also, for example, detect objects. It also has a built-in light sensor - in darkness, its eyes start to glow. The child also has the option to choose the color of the lighting and program advanced sequences of light effects. However, that's not all - the robot can recognize black lines printed on the boards included in the set and move along them. Secret codes are also available, after entering which Botley 2.0 performs various tricks - let your child try them all!
