Edifier W820NB Wireless Headphones

The Edifier W820NB headphones are designed to meet the diverse needs of users. Several modes allow you to customize their performance to your needs, and the specially designed composite diaphragm ensures fantastic sound quality. Thanks to noise-canceling technology you can freely talk on the phone in any place. The advantage of the headphones is also a long operating time up to 49 hours.

Only you and your favorite music in the highest quality

Put on your new headphones and immerse yourself in a world of crystal clear, detail-rich sound. The W820NB are Hi-Res certified, meaning they meet the highest audio standards. Hybrid ANC technology eliminates unnecessary noise, which, combined with the titanized composite diaphragm, allows you to focus on the beauty of the songs being played.

Conveniently talk on the phone wherever you are

Noise cancellation has another advantage - it lets you talk on the phone with ease almost anywhere - at home, at work, on the bus or in the mall. Turn on NC mode and say goodbye to annoying noise - with Edifier, you can rest assured that your voice is properly registered and your caller can hear you perfectly.

Different modes of operation

Choose from the available modes to best match the headphones' performance to the situation and your expectations. Ambient Sound mode lets you listen to music without losing touch with your surroundings - you'll still hear airport announcements or co-workers' questions perfectly. The gaming mode allows you to play your favorite games in comfort - the ultra-low latency means you won't get caught out by your rivals!

All the most important features are at your fingertips

No more need to reach for your phone to change the song or turn down the music. The headphones are equipped with several practical buttons that provide convenient access to the most important functions and settings. For example, you can adjust the volume, pause and resume playback, handle phone calls, switch songs, select modes and activate your voice assistant.

Many hours of music listening on a single charge

The W820NBs will last you as long as you need them to. They're equipped with a long-lasting battery that lets them last up to 29 hours when noise cancellation is on or up to 49 hours when you turn it off. Whether you're binge-watching episodes or listening to music on a long train ride, the Edifier W820NB headphones won't let you down!

Style design and comfort you dream of

The headphones catch the eye with a modern, minimalist design that will appeal to many users. However, the W820NB are not only stylish, but also incredibly comfortable. Weighing only 220g, you can wear them for hours without getting tired. The soft earcups fit snugly over your ears without any pressure, allowing you to enjoy the comfort you dream of.
