Do you often devote long hours to gaming? Get yourself some headphones that will let you enjoy it even more! The Edifier GM180 Plus is the perfect option for gaming enthusiasts and more. The 90° curved USB-C connector allows you to hold your phone or tablet comfortably, and the 13-millimeter drivers provide great sound quality. There's also a high-sensitivity omnidirectional microphone that lets you talk freely with other gamers. The headphones are also extremely comfortable.

L-shaped USB-C connector

Do you have a phone without a minijack? You can still connect headphones to it - just choose a model with a USB-C connector! GM180 Plus are equipped with a specially designed plug curved at a 90° angle. This way it won't stick out or interfere with you during gameplay! Now you can confidently grab your phone and comfortably play your favorite game. In addition, the USB-C connector makes the headphones compatible with many devices such as laptops, smartphones, tablets and Nintendo Switch.

Take your gameplay to a new level

With the GM180 Plus, you'll be even more immersed in the gameplay and in your own room you'll feel like you're in the center of exciting events. Specialists from the Edifier Acoustic Lab team were responsible for tuning the headphones, and as a result you can enjoy perfect harmony and richness of detail. Now you will immediately hear the incoming opponents and locate them with ease - don't be surprised and break another record!

Delightful sound

Hear details that were previously out of your reach. The headphones are equipped with 13-millimeter graphene drivers, so they can deliver clear, natural and richly detailed sound. This means that you will successfully use them not only when playing games, but also for watching movies and listening to music. Expressive treble and emphasized, powerful bass - with GM180 Plus you will give yourself an unforgettable experience!

Built-in microphone

Do you often play team-based online games? Have the confidence to talk to other players at any time and avoid problems caused by lack of proper communication! The headphones are equipped with an omnidirectional noise-canceling microphone that will reliably register your voice. Thanks to this, you will freely exchange remarks with the other members of the team! What's more, the applied solution makes the GM180 Plus great also for streaming or online meetings.

Take care of your comfort

Ensure unparalleled comfort even during prolonged gameplay. The GM180 Plus headphones are incredibly lightweight and comfortable. They are distinguished by their ergonomic design, so they fit perfectly in the ears and do not exert unpleasant pressure. Don't be afraid of pain or fatigue! In addition, the remote control integrated into the cable allows you to easily operate the headphones. With its help, for example, you can stop playback, answer the phone, switch the song, adjust the volume or activate the voice assistant.

Enhanced design

The headphones also feature a stylish, modern design - sure to appeal to many a gaming enthusiast. They are also characterized by the highest quality of workmanship - when designing them, every smallest detail was taken care of.
