Mechanics Motion Magnetic Gears 96 piece GEOMAG GEO-767

Mechanics Motion Magnetic Gears 96 piece GEOMAG GEO-767 magnetic blocks.

Let your child explore the world of science with Mechanics Motion Magnetic Gears by Geomag. This innovative 96-piece construction set is designed for curious minds ages 7 and up, encouraging exploration of the fascinating principles of mechanics and magnetism. It offers both educational fun and unlimited hours of creative building. What's more, the components it includes were created from 80% recycled plastic, making them highly durable and environmentally friendly.

Engineering and fun

The set includes small sticks, balls and bearings to create original constructions. Using the principle of magnetic repulsion, children can build dynamic models with moving parts. This not only introduces them to the basics of rotary motion and mechanics, but also encourages experiential learning. Each model they create is a hands-on lesson in physics in action!

STEM Education

Mechanics Motion Magnetic Gears isn't just a toy - it's a comprehensive educational tool that supports development in the STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering, Mathematics) area. This means that the set supports the understanding of complex scientific concepts in an accessible and interactive way, encouraging the youngest to experiment and solve problems. The product also develops imagination, creativity and manual skills. It's an excellent form of learning through play!

As many as three boxes in the set

You'll also find three storage boxes in the package, which provide easy organization and help keep things tidy after play. This is a convenient solution that promotes learning responsibility and independence. It also avoids losing small parts of the set.

The set includes

Magnetic sticks, metal balls, bearings (96 pieces)3x storage box
