PULUZ silicone protective case for Insta360 X4 (red)

Ensure the complete safety of your Insta360 X4 camera with the PULUZ silicone protective case. It is designed with durability, functionality and aesthetics in mind, while providing superior protection and convenience.

Durable and flexible design

The PULUZ case is made of high-quality, flexible silicone, which has excellent shock-absorbing properties. It protects the camera from shocks, drops, scratches and other mechanical damage, and is abrasion-resistant for long-lasting protection.

Comprehensive lens protection

The kit also includes a lens cover that will protect the lens from scratches, cracks and other types of damage. This will keep your camera completely safe regardless of the conditions.

Aesthetic and functional design

The surface of the case has been given a special treatment that gives it an elegant look and provides a comfortable grip. What's more, the accessory is very easy to install and remove, so you can quickly protect your camera in almost any situation. However, it doesn't stop there. The silicone housing is easy to keep clean - just wipe it with a damp cloth or wash it, so it will always look like new.

Thoughtful design

The case has been designed with a large side opening that provides easy access to the battery and USB port without removing it. You can also easily use all the necessary buttons and functions. Such a solution makes daily use of the camera much easier, while ensuring its full protection.
