Metal Protective Cage With Lens Cover PULUZ for Insta360 X4

PULUZ metal protective housing with lens cover for Insta 360 X4

Provide your Insta 360 X4 camera with the highest level of protection and functionality with the PULUZ metal protective case and lens cover. The accessory is distinguished by a perfect fit to the shape of the device and high durability, so it will not only protect it from damage, but also will not affect the comfort of its operation.

Durable design and precision manufacturing

The PULUZ protective case is made of aerospace-grade aluminum alloy, processed using the CNC method, which ensures its light weight and exceptional durability. Thanks to its perfect fit, the accessory does not block any buttons or obstruct the battery compartment or microphone openings, allowing full use of the camera's functions.

Compatibility with additional accessories

There is a cold-shoe adapter on the top of the housing, which allows you to seamlessly connect a microphone or backlight. In addition, the magnetic interface of the folding base, which is compatible with the GoPro interface and features a 1/4-inch hole, ensures compatibility with most tripods and other accessories. This makes it easy to adapt your camera to the recording scenario of your choice!

Tailored to your needs

Mounting and removing the camera in the PULUZ housing is quick and easy, without the need for additional tools. In addition, the set includes a rubber lens cover that will help protect the lens from scratches and other damage. Thanks to this you will easily take care of reliable protection of your equipment!
