The Naturehike inflatable bag was created with outdoor activity enthusiasts in mind. Its innovative waterproof design and functionality make it the perfect companion for any water adventure - it will also serve as a cushion while you relax! High-quality materials will ensure the safety of your property in all conditions.

Robust construction and durability

The bag is made of a three-layer material combining nylon and PVC, which provides exceptional resistance to abrasion and mechanical damage. As a result, even in harsh conditions it remains intact and its contents are protected from the elements.

Water resistance at the highest level

Thanks to the use of an advanced sealing system and valves for inflating and deflating, the Naturehike bag provides full water resistance. As a result, it will prove reliable during kayaking activities, sailing or rainy expeditions.

Thoughtful closure system

Rolling the bag four times and securing it with a buckle creates a tight seal against water. This simple but effective solution ensures that even in extreme conditions your belongings will stay dry.

Convenience of use

Practical handles and a shoulder strap allow easy carrying. From now on, you will always have all the most necessary things at hand - even during adventures on the water!
