Beetle camera attachment clip P-CG-040

This model's camera attachment clip may be the next indispensable thing you'll want to take with you when traveling with your camera. You may want to do so because of the speed with which it is used or its stability. To use the item, attach it to your belt.

Convenience while traveling

The crane camera clip is a great solution when traveling. It will free your hands from the camera. To do this, simply clip the clip to your belt. The device also contributes to neck relief. All this adds up to a product that will become an indispensable item for you during your expeditions and is sure to rank high on your list of things to take with you.

Use your camera almost at flash speed

The device provides fast camera attachment and locking. It does this without the need for buttons. The ease of pressing the button this way is comparable to the ease of removing the camera. You can rest assured that your camera will not unlock by accident. Such incidents are prevented by the secondary locking function.

Ability to attach the buckle to your belt

This product is a new way to quickly attach your camera to most belts. The clip has replaced the traditional knob. The product gives you the ability to attach up to 75 mm in width, a maximum thickness of 15 mm and a minimum thickness of 1 mm. The non-slip rubber materials on the inside of the clip will also take care of the safety of your camera.

More capabilities and security

With the SnapLock plate, expanded capabilities are possible. The clip uses an Arca-Swiss compatible AnapLock plate. This plate uses a patented tight-fitting screw. In addition, it contains a thrust needle bearing which guarantees that the plate will not unscrew. The SnapLock plate allows the camera to be installed in any direction, while mounting it horizontally increases its stability. The camera is thus securely attached.
