Niimbot B21S Portable Label Printer Red

Niimbot B21S portable label printer (red)
The Nimbot B21S portable label printer will work well in the store, at home or at work. It requires no ink and allows you to print several labels per second. It is equipped with a 1200 mAh battery, which translates into a long working time. Operation of the device is facilitated by an app, and Bluetooth is responsible for a fast and stable connection.

Useful for everyday use
Niimbot thermal printer will find its use in various situations. You will use it at home to label spices or food containers. The B21S will also prove useful in the store for labeling products with EAN codes, printing prices and expiration dates, or creating QR codes.

Dedicated app
To start using the printer, download the dedicated Niimbot app - it is compatible with Android and iOS. From it you can design labels, customize the font, amount of content, etc. It allows you to print barcodes, QR codes, Excel table or time and date. It also supports serial printing, scan or emoticons and voice input. The possibilities are almost endless!
