Huanger HE0631 educational mat

The Huanger HE0631 Educational Mat promotes sensory development and strengthens your baby's muscles from the first days of life. With colorful pendants, a large mirror and a piano, the mat provides fun and education, growing with your toddler and adapting to his needs at different stages of development. It offers three different ways to play that help develop baby's motor and physical skills. The toddler can play with the toys while lying on his back and hitting the piano keys with his feet, exercise on his tummy while lifting his head and learning about the world around him, and sit and play the piano with his hands.

Safe and baby-friendly

Made of the highest quality, nice-to-touch materials, the Huanger HE0631 mat provides comfort and safety for the toddler. The mat perfectly insulates the baby from the cold floor, while its colorful elements and music box melody stimulate sensory development. The included piano can be easily transformed into an interactive music table, which further develops the baby's motor skills, hearing and vision. This is an excellent gift choice that will provide hours of great fun and learning!
