Rockbros JG-004ABK bicycle pump (black)

The Rockbros JG-004ABK is a highly effective bicycle pump that combines innovation with a compact and durable design. Made of aluminum alloy, which ensures both lightness (169 g) and durability, it is an indispensable tool for any cyclist. Its compact size (about 32 cm when closed) allows for easy carrying and storage.

Versatile functionality

The JG-004ABK pump will easily handle both American and French valves - all without the need for additional adapters. The ease of switching between different types of valves makes it a useful tool for many models of bicycles and other sports equipment.

Convenient use

The use of the Rockbros inflator is extremely simple and convenient. The product provides a pressure of up to 160 psi and is equipped with a scale graduation so that you can keep track of its operation. Thanks to this you can easily inflate not only a bicycle tire, but also, for example, a basketball! In addition, the tube of the JG-004ABK model rotates 360°, providing greater comfort and flexibility during inflation.

Refined in every detail

The pump hose is resistant to high and low temperatures, as well as to corrosion, making it perfect for almost any conditions. The product is also very durable - it was created from a durable aluminum alloy. It also features a lightweight, portable design. When folded, its length is only about 32 cm, which allows it to be conveniently transported without problems - you can easily attach it to a bicycle frame, for example. Its additional advantage is the T-shaped handle, which allows efficient pumping without much effort.
