Puluz floating grip for action cameras

Equip your action camera with the functional Puluz floating grip! Its compact and lightweight design makes it comfortable to use and the anti-sinking feature prevents you from losing your device during water sports. Bet on the combination of quality and comfort!

Functionality first

The grip was designed specifically for water activities. It is made of plastic, rubber and special foam, which prevents your device from sinking. What's more, it is compatible with protective and waterproof case mounts. Do you enjoy water sports or just like being active? Now you can take your camera with you without worry!

Compact, lightweight design

The design of the device focuses on lightness and compactness, in order to support the comfort of use as much as possible. What's more, the tip of the grip is bright orange, so you can quickly locate your camera if you lose sight of it. Record your experiences so you can happily return to them, whatever you do!

Wide compatibility

The mount is compatible with a wide range of cameras from DJI, GoPro, Xiaoyi and other brands. No need to look for a dedicated device!

Create spectacular water shots without worrying about damaging or losing your equipment. You have it all at your fingertips!
