ESR Tempered Glass for iPhone 16 Plus

ESR Tempered Glass is an advanced screen protection designed specifically for the iPhone 16 Plus. Thanks to its precise fit and excellent transparency, the glass provides full comfort of use and guarantees the safety of the screen in any situation. In addition, the product consists of 3 layers that protect the smartphone screen from fingerprints, scratches and drops.

Easy and hassle-free application

Glass application has never been simpler - the included alignment frame and dust-resistant adhesive allow perfect placement of the glass without annoying air bubbles. This intuitive solution makes it easy to install the protective glass on your phone.

High protection

With SGS certification and up to 15 kg impact resistance, ESR tempered glass provides military-grade screen protection. It can withstand harsh use, protecting the screen from cracks and scratches, ensuring that your phone is always safe.

Flawless screen quality

The ESR glass features a light transmission of 92%, providing exceptional image clarity and eliminating streaks that often appear on other glasses. As a result, you can enjoy excellent display quality without image distortion or screen readability problems.

Scratch-resistant

Made of high-quality glass with 9H hardness, ESR glass is resistant to scratches caused by daily use. The product remains in perfect condition for years, protecting the screen from scratches and mechanical damage.
