Darkflash A290 computer case (white)

Want to build yourself the perfect computer for work or gaming? The Darkflash A290 case will help you do it! It is compatible with many types of components and allows you to create a powerful cooling system. It also offers several key ports and buttons, including USB 3.0, USB 2.0 and a headphone/speaker output. It is also distinguished by a modern, stylish design - a tempered glass side panel will give you stunning visual effects.

Plenty of expansion possibilities

The A290 chassis is compatible with a range of components, so you can easily build exactly the computer of your dreams. The product supports such motherboard standards as ATX, M-ATX and ITX, and allows you to mount a graphics card with a maximum length of 260mm. You'll also have room for CPU cooling up to 160mm in height.

Efficient cooling

Don't worry about your computer overheating. The well-thought-out design of the A290 case allows for efficient heat dissipation, and there is also the possibility to install 5 120mm fans. You can also install 240mm water cooling. Now you can play even the most dynamic game or use demanding software without any problems! In addition, the kit includes 3 CL6 fans.

Thoughtful design

The side panel of the case is made of tempered glass. This favors the display of components equipped with backlighting, emphasizing the gaming character of your configuration. What's more, the A290 is distinguished by a modern finish, which further enhances the visual appeal of the hardware. The case is also equipped with a dust filter, which can be easily removed and cleaned. This makes it effortless to keep your equipment in excellent condition.

More amenities

You can place an HDD or SSD in the case. When you choose the A290, you'll also gain access to an interface with a USB3.0 port, which features outstanding speed. And when you want to expand your hardware configuration, 7 expansion card slots will help.
