Pawbby smart auto-vac pet food storage container

Do you want your pet's food to stay fresh and safe for your pet's health for as long as possible? The smart vacuum container by Pawbby will help you with this! The product will allow you to store food in optimal conditions, protecting it from moisture and bacteria. You can also check the prevailing temperature and humidity level inside it via the app. At the same time, the container is very easy to use, and high quality materials were used to make it.

Fresh food for longer

Do you know why sometimes food spoils quickly? It is influenced by the moisture present in the air, which accelerates the growth of bacteria or mold. Vacuum storage will help you avoid similar problems and keep your food fresh for longer! The Pawbby container allows you to store pet food at the optimal temperature and humidity level. This way you can be sure that your pet gets only healthy food!

Keep your hand on the pulse with the app

Now you can easily check the temperature and humidity level in the container. Just use the dedicated app! It will also let you know what the current charge level of the vacuum module is. You will also gain access to clear graphs showing the history of measurements. What's more, if the conditions in the container are abnormal, you will immediately receive an appropriate notification.

Convenient and safe use

The product is distinguished by its capacity of as much as 9 liters - this means you don't have to fill it too often. The device is also very easy to use. To create a vacuum, you only need to press a button! Another advantage is the handle that makes it easy to carry the container and the night DND mode, so you can sleep in peace. Also noteworthy is the long working time of the vacuum module - you only need to charge it about 6 times a year. What's more, the cardboard box after the device can be easily converted into a cat house!
