Prism USB to lightning angle cable Mcdodo CA-3510, 1.2m (black)

Do you like to play games on your phone? Or do you often watch videos on Youtube? You will love the Prism angled cable from Mcdodo. The product is distinguished by its angled design, which allows you to use your phone comfortably while charging. It provides lightning-fast data transmission and supports fast charging protocols, offering a stable current supply of 3A. The modern design is sure to attract the attention of users, and the solid construction will ensure that the cable will successfully serve you for many years.

Charger for gamers

Mcdodo CA-3510 cable was created with gamers in mind. The specially designed connector has been bent at a 90° angle, so your phone fits perfectly in your hand when plugged into the charger. Now you can comfortably play arcade games and forget about disturbing wires!

Fast charging

The cable supports fast charging and provides a power supply of up to 12 watts. It is compatible with Apple devices with Lightning connector, so you can top up the power in them without worrying about overcharging or short-circuiting.

Solid construction

Careful workmanship makes the Prism Angle Cable a purchase that will last for years. A reinforced copper core, a solid nylon braid and a gold-coated plug all helped to achieve maximum performance and safety, as well as resistance to wear and tear. It is worth noting the distinctive design of the cable - thanks to the transparent housing, we can see the internal components, which adds a cyber punk vibe to the product.
