Havit Fuxi H1 2.4G/BT gaming headphones

Take your gaming to the next level. The Havit Fuxi H1 2.4G/BT gaming headphones guarantee high-quality sound thanks to the 40 mm drivers. The omnidirectional microphone will allow you to chat comfortably with other gamers, while the ergonomic design ensures the highest level of comfort during use. The headphones are perfect for dynamic gameplay thanks to their ultra-low latency. You can connect them to your compatible device in 3 ways and they last up to 24 hours.

Superior sound quality

Immerse yourself in the world of your favourite games. The headphones feature 40-millimetre drivers for perfect harmony and clear, detail-saturated sound. High-quality stereo surround sound will make it easy to hear your opponent's every move - nothing will surprise you now!

Stay connected

Communicate freely with other team members and plan your strategy before the next game. The headphones feature an omnidirectional microphone that will capture your every word perfectly. Plus, its flexible design makes it easy to adjust to your needs. Not using the microphone? You can detach it at any time!

Various ways to connect

Use the headphones the way you like. There are up to 3 ways to connect your headphones. You can conveniently connect the headphones to a compatible device in the 2.4 GHz band or use the Bluetooth module. They provide a reliable and stable signal without interference up to 10 m. There is also the option to connect them to your device using a USB-C cable.

Ultra-low latency

The headphones have been designed with gamers in mind. They feature a special Broadcom chip and provide extremely low latency of just 24 ms. So you can enjoy perfect synchronisation of video and sound. Immerse yourself in the world of your favourite games and don't let your opponent take you by surprise!

Designed for your comfort

Now you can play for as long as you like - no need to worry about discomfort or fatigue even during prolonged use. The ergonomic design of the headphones provides unparalleled comfort. The soft earcups are made of skin-friendly material and fit snugly around your ears without exerting uncomfortable pressure. Also noteworthy is the adjustable headband, which you can easily adjust to your needs.

Up to 24 hours of operation

Enjoy your headphones all day long. The Fuxi H1 is equipped with a powerful 400 mAh battery, which is responsible for long operating times. The headphones last up to 24 hours when using a Bluetooth connection, or up to 20 hours when using a 2.4 GHz connection. Want to use the headphones without worrying about them suddenly discharging during an important game? Take advantage of the USB cable and use them without limits!
