ESR HaloLock CryoBoost car holder with Qi inductive charger, MagSafe (black)

Car holder is a practical accessory that should be in every car's equipment! ESR HaloLock CryoBoost stably holds your phone in the selected position thanks to built-in high-quality magnets. It allows wireless charging with a power of up to 15W and is compatible with the MagSafe standard. You can easily mount it in the air vents.

Innovative fast charging technology

Discover the power and efficiency of CryoBoost! Unlike standard MagSafe chargers, ESR's proprietary CryoBoost technology uses a built-in fan and innovative components that effectively dissipate heat. So you don't have to worry about overheating your device while it is renewing its energy. With ESR HaloLock CryoBoost charging will not only be faster, but also more efficient!

Wireless charging

Now charging is simpler and more convenient than ever before. The inductive charger offers fast charging of up to 15W. This will renew your iPhone 14's power to 100% in just over 2.5 hours! All you have to do is place your phone on the charger and it will automatically start the charging process - no need to connect cables or look for the right port. See for yourself how convenient it is!

Unparalleled stability

The holder is equipped with strong magnets that guarantee the necessary stability even when driving on uneven ground! Their holding power, combined with the HaloLock case, is as much as 3,000g, so you don't have to worry about your phone unexpectedly falling and being damaged. What's more, you can position your smartphone both vertically and horizontally - nothing stands in your way!
