Camera shoulder strap with quick release Puluz PU6001

Made of durable material, this camera strap is great for outdoor sessions or trips. It features a sturdy, well-thought-out design and fits all brands of DSLR cameras, including Canon, Fuji, Nikon, Olympus, Panasonic, Pentax, Sony, etc. The total length of the strap is 150 cm, which makes it fit any figure.

High quality workmanship

Made of the highest quality materials, it is extremely durable and capable of safely carrying any combination of camera and lens. The sliding buckle holds the camera in the preferred position, minimizing the risk of equipment swaying during movement. The strap is compatible with any DSLR equipped with a standard 1/4-inch diameter screw. Its reliability is highlighted by a sturdy metal hook with a screw lock and a rubber-coated stainless steel screw to securely and safely mount even the heaviest camera.

High comfort of use

One of the main advantages of the strap is its shoulder pad. It ensures that the weight of the camera is evenly distributed, which helps avoid discomfort when carrying heavy equipment all day. A convenient zippered pocket is the perfect place to store small camera accessories. In addition, the adjustable length makes it quick to fit your individual needs.
