Supfire HL50 head flashlight

The Supfire HL50 compact headlamp is extremely handy and will prove itself in many situations. Fitted on an elastic strap, it fits perfectly to any head and provides illumination up to 200m. You can choose one of four modes and use the flashlight even in the rain. Extremely long battery life will allow for unlimited use in all conditions.

Long and wide range

The built-in zoom allows you to adjust the size of the light beam, from a very narrow reflector-like beam to a wide one, which can illuminate a wide area. In addition, a very long range up to 200 m allows for practical use when you need high visibility in a dark room or at night. The LED provides up to 150 lumens, which is quite enough, even in very dark places.

Longer activity

The lithium battery used in the flashlight can operate for up to 5 hours on a single charge, which is quite sufficient for many applications. As soon as the battery drops to a low level, it will be indicated by a red light, and when connected to the charge, a blue light will indicate that the battery is ready to work again. You can easily recharge the flashlight with a micro USB cable.

Select your own mode

Four predefined modes were used in the flashlight, each useful in a different situation. Two basic ones: strong and weak light will probably be used most often depending on the need. You can also choose the strobe mode, and after holding the "on/off" button for 2 seconds, you will start the SOS mode, which is a steady flashing signal indicating that you need help.

For every occasion

You can use the flashlight in many different situations: fishing, mountain climbing, night running or tenting. Depending on your needs, you can set the angle of the flashlight and its special design allows you to use it even in the rain. The comfortable elastic band will fit every head and will not cause any discomfort even when worn for a long time.
