SVEN HT-210 Speakers, 125 W Bluetooth (Black)

Forget standard sound systems and experience a cinematic atmosphere in the comfort of your own home with the SVEN HT-210 speakers. Offering a total output power of 125 watts, including an impressive 50-watt subwoofer and 75-watt satellites, the set guarantees a realistic and rich sound experience. Thanks to a special conversion of the stereo signal to 5.1, even ordinary movies or music gain a new spatial depth. Ideal for movie buffs, gamers and music enthusiasts, the SVEN HT-210 speakers will immerse you in a world of sound so deep that you will forget about the reality around you.

An audiovisual feast in your home

The sound quality offered by SVEN HT-210 exceeds the expectations of even the most demanding audiophiles. The carefully designed satellites provide crystal clear and detailed high-frequency reproduction, and together with the powerful subwoofer with deep bass, allow you to experience the full spectrum of sound. Every sound is faithfully reproduced, providing the listener with an acoustic experience of the highest level. Combined with advanced signal conversion technology, the SVEN HT-210 offers incredibly rich and realistic surround sound that brings the cinema experience right into your home.

Full wireless freedom

Enjoy the freedom of playing music from a variety of sources. Thanks to Bluetooth, you can easily stream music from your smartphone or tablet. In addition, the HT-210 is equipped with FM radio and supports playback from USB flash drives and SD cards. This system will become your multimedia entertainment center, allowing you to access your favorite playlists, podcasts or radio stations at any time.

Convenient operation

Offering both aesthetics and functionality, the SVEN HT-210 speakers feature a VFD display that informs you of the currently selected audio source or radio station. Remote control adds another level of convenience, allowing you to operate the system from anywhere in the room. Now you can switch modes and adjust the volume without getting up from the couch.

Mounting versatility and solid quality

It doesn't matter if you have a lot of space or not - the SVEN HT-210 speakers can be mounted either on the wall or placed on the floor. Made of durable MDF wood, they not only offer exceptional sound quality, but also make an elegant addition to any interior. The black color and slim design will make these speakers fit easily into any decor.

Enjoy the best quality

With digital optical and coaxial inputs, connecting the SVEN HT-210 system to your TV or other device is child's play. As a result, you get an undistorted, high-quality audio signal without unnecessary cables and fuss. SVEN HT-210 is an investment in the ultimate audiovisual experience that you will treasure for years to come.
