LDNIO PQ10 powerbank 22.5W 10000mAh (gray)

The LDNIO PQ10 powerbank with a maximum power of 22.5W and a capacity of 10,000mAh comes with one USB-C and two USB ports. The device offers an easy-to-read LED display and a switch for convenient operation. The product provides a number of safety features and stands out for its long life. It allows you to charge several devices at the same time, which will save you time. You can also take it with you on a plane without worry.

3 ports

You don't have to limit yourself anymore. The LDNIO Powerbank features one USB-C port and two USB ports, so you can conveniently charge up to three devices at once with a maximum power of 22.5 watts. Forget about the long wait until your equipment is charged and ready to use.

High capacity and fast charging

LDNIO's powerbank is distinguished by its 10,000 mAh capacity. So you can charge different models of smartphones several times before you need to plug in the powerbank itself for charging. What's more, the PQ10 supports PD and QC3.0 fast charging protocols. As a result, 30 minutes is enough for the Huawei P50's battery charge level to reach 60%.

Operating the powerbank is remarkably simple. To start charging the connected device, all you have to do is press the corresponding button. What's more, you can efficiently read the battery charge level from the easy-to-read LED display. Have the PQ10 with you at all times - even on an airplane and don't let your devices run down.

For the safety of your devices
You don't have to worry about the safety of your devices. The PQ10 guarantees protection against overvoltage, short circuit, overheating or electromagnetic fields, among other things. What's more, the LDNIO powerbank automatically adjusts the power to the equipment being charged, thus protecting its battery.
