Steel Measuring Tape Deli Tools EDL9010B

Practical Deli measuring tape with a length of 10m is a universal tool for home and professional use. Using it, you can easily make accurate measurements of walls or floors. Independent work is facilitated by a convenient to use button and automatic lock. A similar measuring tape will come in handy on every construction site and during most renovations. It is suitable for both larger projects and, for example, when refurbishing a small room.

Practical, solid

The 0.11mm thick rolled tape is made of durable, stiff material, so it does not tangle and holds straight. Its stiffness reaches 1.2m, which means that it does not break to this length. The graduations on the tape are very clear and easy to read. What's more, the tape automatically retracts slowly enough that you don't have to worry about cutting yourself. The tape measure is also equipped with ergonomic housing made of ABS plastic, which is characterized by strength and high resistance to shocks, falls and wear. The tape has a special measuring hook that allows for precise internal and external measurement. There is a stainless steel handle on the side of the tape measure to attach it to your belt, and on the back there is a string that allows you to hang it in your workshop.
