Vention AACBL 4K 60Hz HDMI cable, 10m (black)

Looking for a reliable cable that works in a variety of scenarios? The Vention HDMI cable will be perfect for you! It provides 4K@60Hz resolution video, as well as wide compatibility. What's more, its length is 10m, so it will be comfortable to use.

Excellent picture quality

If you are looking to display excellent image quality on the big screen, the Vention HDMI cable will be perfect for you as it provides 4K@60Hz resolution. This will make colours more dynamic and vivid. What's more, it also supports 3D imaging technology with a wider view and more realistic image quality.

High compatibility

The HDMI cable shows great compatibility, making it suitable for a variety of situations. It will work well with a laptop, TV, TV box and even a PS5/4 or XBOX console. So you can easily use it at home, in the office, at business meetings or to plug in screens in the shop. In addition, its length is as long as 10 metres, which makes it even more comfortable to use.

Various operating modes

However, this is not all that Vention has to offer. The HDMI cable can operate in Mirror mode, which displays the same image on several devices. This will be ideal for watching movies or playing games. What's more, you also have the option of using Extension mode, allowing you to display 2 different images on several screens, which will come in handy when working. With Vention, you will no longer have any limitations!
