Darkflash D1 LED computer fan

Provide your computer with effective cooling, while giving it a unique gaming character. The D1 fan will effectively prevent your equipment from overheating, while surprising you with its quiet operation - its volume level does not exceed 22 dB. The colorful LED backlighting is an eye-catcher, and the well-thought-out design guarantees optimal heat distribution. The product is also distinguished by an impressive service life of up to 30,000 hours.

Hassle-free installation - efficient operation

Installation of the device is fabulously easy, and the 4-pin interface ensures stable output. This means you can enjoy reliable operation of the device. The product draws attention with an interesting design that is not only stylish, but also functional. The curved frame guarantees more efficient heat distribution, and the 7 fan blades ensure effective cooling.

Surprisingly quiet operation

Forget about annoying noise. The fan is equipped with soft pads made of plastic, which are responsible for reducing resonance. As a result, the maximum volume of the device is about 22 dB - that's really not much! With Darkflash you can enjoy silence and comfort while working or entertaining.

Impressively long service life

The lifespan of computer fans often does not impress. In the case of D1, however, it is quite different! Its operating time reaches 30,000 hours - you don't have to worry that it will refuse to serve you too soon. Forget about the need for frequent replacement of similar components - Darkflash fans will serve you well for a long time.

Fantastic, colorful backlighting

What makes D1 fans eye-catching and allows you to give your computer an incredibly stylish character? The built-in LED ring! The colorful backlighting in all the colors of the rainbow looks great, and thanks to the carefully considered design of the product, it impresses with its brightness and clarity. Soon your computer can look really fantastic!
