Wireless Controller / Gamepad Thunderrobot G20 (Black)

The G20 controller model combines numerous functions with an exceptional design. Its joysticks, featuring a rubberized, textured finish, ensure a firm grip, while the TURBO button allows for repeated execution of the selected action. It is equipped with D-pad buttons, ABXY buttons, and additional features like HOME, TURBO, START, and SELECT, and allows adjusting the vibration intensity and joystick tilt distance. Hassle-free compatibility with various devices - from consoles, through Android TV Box, Steam, to computers and laptops - means it is ready to play as soon as it's connected. Caring for user comfort, the G20 is made from high-quality materials, combining durability with elegant details, such as blue glowing elements. The ergonomic design guarantees enjoyment from gameplay and no discomfort even during long sessions.

Buttons

The joysticks have a rubber, textured finish, preventing thumbs from slipping. They respond efficiently and precisely, just like the bumpers and triggers. The controller is equipped with D-pad buttons and ABXY buttons, as well as additional elements: HOME, TURBO, START, and SELECT. The TURBO button allows for repeating an action multiple times. The G20 allows you to choose the vibration intensity at levels of 0%, 30%, 70%, 100%. You can also adjust the joysticks and choose their tilt distance from the center by shortening or lengthening it, and also swap the functions of the left joystick and the D-pad.

High Compatibility

The controller works with many devices, including stationary consoles, portable devices, Android TV Box, Steam, computers, and laptops. Upon connection, it is immediately ready to start the game without the need for any configurations.

Ergonomics and Quality

The controller has been designed with attention to detail, emphasizing material quality and ergonomics. Durable plastic combined with rubber and glowing elements gives it a subtle, yet sophisticated look. The G20 model ensures comfort during gaming and eliminates hand discomfort. The pad is characterized by a minimalist appearance and elegance achieved through matte, glossy, and blue glowing elements.
