While Timewarp allows you to achieve smooth shots with a delay function. Additionally, the lens is waterproof and quick and easy to install.

Max HyperSmooth

Do you want high-quality shots? With the Max Lens Mod, it's possible! Max HyperSmooth stabilization delivers video at up to 2.7K 60 resolution and allows you to record smooth shots without annoying shake. Now you can freely record while cycling, running, etc.

Wide recording angle

Beautiful view can't fit in the frame? Use the Max Lens Mod and record without limits! GP-LEN-001 allows you to record at an ultra-wide angle of 155°. You can use it to record, for example, large buildings or vast landscapes.

Even more possibilities

The lens features Horizon Lock, which allows you to lock the horizon while recording no matter how you hold the camera, for example, if you rotate it. Timewarp, on the other hand, provides smooth video with a delay function. It works well for recording auroras or meteor showers, etc.

Waterproof

The lens is also water resistant up to 5 m. So you can comfortably record near water. However, please note that the lens accessory is designed with waterproof performance components, while used underwater, it may cause image distortion. It is not recommended using it underwater.
