Veggie Farm Learning Resources Math Set LER 5553

Combine learning with fun and help your child develop skills related to counting, shape recognition, sorting, color discrimination and more! The Veggie Farm Sorting Set includes a foam board with a garden pattern, 25 plastic vegetables in 5 colors, 10 double-sided cards, 5 vegetable buckets and 5 card holders. You'll find everything you need to organize interesting yet developing fun for the little ones! The toy is designed for children aged 3 years and older.

Distinguish colors and shapes

The Veggie Farm Sorting Set will help your child learn colors and shapes. For example, you can ask them to sort all the vegetables by color and "plant them in the garden" or place them in buckets with the corresponding cards. Another fun idea is to arrange several vegetables of the same color and one of a different color next to each other. The child's task will be to point out which item does not match the others!

Learning counting through play

With the Veggie Farm Sorting Set, you can also offer your child some games that will help him learn to count. Place two cards in a bucket - one with a number and the other with an outline of a vegetable. Then ask your child to add the right number of matching pieces there! You can also make up different stories, for example, "you want to sell 2 red vegetables and 3 green vegetables at the market." The child's task will be to count how many vegetables will sell together! So many possible games and activities allow for hours of great fun - without the risk of boredom.
