Selfie Stick/Tripod with Bluetooth APEXEL APL-D6 (Black)

Discover the versatility and innovation of the APEXEL APL-D6 Bluetooth tripod, which combines the functionality of a selfie stick, gimbal stabilizer, and tripod. Its design not only makes it easier to take photos from any angle but also ensures stability without the need for additional applications. With the included remote control, which conveniently tucks away in the tripod's body, the APEXEL APL-D6 is the perfect tool for anyone who wants to capture the perfect moment without compromise.

Built-in Stabilizer

The APEXEL APL-D6 stands out with its built-in stabilizer, turning it into a functional gimbal. This provides users with the ability to record smooth and stable footage, eliminating the need for external image stabilization applications.

Remote Control with Pilot

The included remote control greatly expands the creative possibilities for the user, allowing for taking photos and videos from a distance. The remote can be easily stored in the tripod's body, preventing it from being lost and ensuring it is always at hand when needed. This feature makes the APEXEL APL-D6 an ideal solution for group photos, selfies, and situations where you want to be a part of the moment, not just an observer.

Versatility of Use

The APEXEL APL-D6 tripod offers unparalleled versatility, allowing it to be used as a selfie stick, gimbal-equipped tripod, or traditional tripod. Its design enables easy switching between modes, making it the perfect tool for those who value flexibility in content creation. The ability to take photos both vertically and horizontally further highlights its universality, making it suitable for various photographic and cinematic scenarios.
