PGYTECH P-CG-051 Snap Lock Adapter (base)

Now you can quickly swap accessories and even cameras and enjoy more flexibility when recording. The PGYTECH brand Snap Lock Adapter is compatible with many off-the-shelf equipment and allows you to mount or remove your chosen devices in no time. It's also designed to provide a secure, stable mount.

Fast device installation

No longer do you have to worry about missing an opportunity to capture the shot of your dreams. Using several PGYTECH brand adapters, you can quickly change your camera or mount it on a tripod, gimbal or slider. In no time at all, you will be able to adapt your equipment to your needs or situation and prepare fantastic, original footage. A special SnapLock system makes it possible.

Wide compatibility

The adapter is designed to be compatible with most of the popular equipment that creatives find useful. There are 1/4" and 3/8" threaded holes at the bottom of the accessory, and an Arca-Swiss interface is located on its side. All this makes the product a perfect fit for gimbals, mounting plates, sliders or tripods.

Stability and safety

Don't worry about your camera falling and being damaged. The plate uses a specially designed, patented, tight-fitting screw to provide a secure, stable mount. What's more, an additional button allows you to lock the accessory and avoid accidental loosening.

Portable

This practical accessory can accompany you almost anywhere. It weighs only 55g and measures 55x38x17.5mm. It is not too heavy and does not take up much space - you can easily fit it in your backpack, bag or even pocket. This way you can have it with you whenever you need it.
