Wired Vertical Mouse Delux M618PU (A825) 7200DPI

Delux M618PU Vertical Mouse (A825) 7200DPI

The M618PU vertical mouse owes its shape to the snail shell, combining ergonomics with a vertical side grip that effectively replaces the traditional mouse shape. This makes the mouse a natural extension of the arm, reducing the need to cross the arm bones, which translates into comfort while working. It is made of a leather-like material with non-slip tabs, making the handling even more comfortable.

High precision

The Delux brand product has a range of DPI levels: 400-800-1600-2400-3200-4000, max 7200, so you can set your own mouse movement precision. Unlike a conventional mouse that defaults to 1000 DPI, with the different settings you can work on a large screen area with fewer movements.

Built-in software

With built-in memory, the mouse will remember your setting. Each button is programmable to meet your needs for office work, Internet surfing and gaming. In addition, the M618PU vertical mouse is suitable for home and office use. It is compatible with Windows 2000, XP, Vista, 7, 8, 10 and macOS, making it even more flexible in its use.

Multi-tasking sensor

The A825 sensor installed in the M618PU features flexible operation, equally when you need to use it for office work or while playing your favorite titles. If you use your computer for work, but also for entertainment, the 618PU mouse will be an excellent choice.

Pleasing design

In addition to its ergonomic shape, the mouse has been tailored for a pleasant working experience. Covered with a soft material, the surface is dirt-resistant and will not make your hands sweat, even during long work. Additional guidance in the form of non-slip mats on the sides gives a secure grip and full control.

Dedicated cable

Your gameplay will also be helped by an ultralight cable, which, thanks to its light weight, will be almost imperceptible, but you will also gain great freedom. Its length is 180 cm.
