Are you looking for a convenient power strip, which, moreover, will help you organize your cables? LDNIO power strip is for you! Its high power rating (2500 watts) and fast charging will make its use even more convenient. You can already forget about constantly tangled wires!

Comfort of use

The LDNIO SN5310W power strip will be comfortable to use, thanks to its L-shaped design. Thanks to this, you will be able to fit all the wires in the organizer without any obstacles. In addition, even better organization will be made possible by a cutout on the side, also L-shaped. What's more, the power rating of the list is as much as 2,500 watts, which means you can plug various devices under it.

Universal power supply

LDNIO SN5310W is not only convenient to use, but it is also universal, as it fits different plugs for UK/EU/US among others. From today you will be able to use your tablet comfortably while charging, as the organizer is equipped with a special place where you can place your equipment. In addition, the strip has 5 charging sockets and 3 USB sockets, so you can connect multiple devices at the same time.

Fast charging

LDNIO's power strip is equipped with the latest technology, which will enable you to get fast 15W wireless charging. This means that you no longer need to buy additional chargers to get your phone back to power in no time. In addition, a special feature identifies your device to give you the best and fastest charging possible. Wires made of high-quality copper will guarantee you excellent performance of the entire strip.

Security

You can feel safe with LDNIO because the strip provides protection on many levels. It is made of high-quality PC fireproof material. In addition, it is equipped with a special mechanism that protects children from electric shock. You can also turn it on and off at will, as there is a power button on it.
