Face Mask AirPOP Original (Dark Grey)

AirPop masks are proven to protect you from the outside air and help take care of your health. They redefine the relationship we have with our urban atmosphere. They feature the most advanced ergonomic design and are made of breathable materials, so they provide full comfort and are perfect for everyday use. Our health is exposed to three types of airborne hazards: ecological (allergens, forest fires, dust storms), anthropological (coal burning, dust pollution) and biological (viral epidemics, bacterial diseases). AirPop will protect you from all of them! Climate change, a growing global population and economic activity are all factors that translate into an increase in the incidence of diseases associated with all types of hazards. That's why it's so important to protect your health. AirPop provides unparalleled protection, regardless of the type of risk.

An even better mask for your comfort

To give you the best possible protection, we've reinvented the entire filtration. We designed the mask from the ground up, focusing on efficiency, comfort and ease of breathing. What we've achieved will give you a breath of fresh air.

Four-layer protection

The two-layer electrostatic melt-blown nonwoven filters feature high filtration efficiency and protect against even the finest contaminants. The pre-filter layer is sandwiched between two protective top layers, effectively trapping harmful particles that are in the air. The filter blocks >97%
