Cable USB Mcdodo CA-7250 3in1 retractable 1,2m black

The Mcdodo CA-7250 3-in-1 coiled USB cable 1.2m black.

The McDodo CA-7250 USB cable is a great solution for people who use devices with different ports, as this cable has Lightning, micro USB and USB-C ends. An independent circuit is provided for each port. A distinctive feature of the cable is that it can be unrolled from both sides and rolled back. The maximum length is 130cm. When connected to iOS devices, no windows pop up.

Three different ends

Do you use different types of devices, such as cameras, Apple-branded devices or portable game consoles? You will certainly find it useful to have a cable with which you can charge all these devices at the same time! What's more, with the Lightning connector it is also possible to transfer data if you charge your device, for example, by plugging it into a computer.

Great for traveling

The McDodo CA-7250 USB cable is great for traveling, as it not only has three different ends, but also features a small size, so it will fit into any backpack or camera bag.

It adapts to your needs

Another advantage of this cable is that it is expandable on both sides and reaches a length of up to 130 cm! When you're done using it, you can roll it up again to a handy little size.

High durability

The cable has passed numerous tests to prove its durability. Its construction has passed the 50000 expansion test, the bending test more than 3000 times, the plugging test more than 5000 times, and that's not all! It also withstood 48 hours in very low and high temperatures and an 8kg load test, which proves its durability.
