USB to USB-C cable Mcdodo CA-3340 6A 90 degree 1.2m
The McDodo CA-3340 cable is a great choice for people who play with their phone while charging. Tired of an uncomfortable grip and a cable digging into your hand? The McDodo lap cable resembles the letter L in design - thanks to this shape, when plugged into the phone, the cable protrudes only 0.5cm from the edge of the device. You can comfortably hold your phone or tablet in both hands and keep playing! What's more, the cable supports data transfer, fast charging with a voltage of up to 6A, has an LED indicating the charging status and more!

Convenient design
The CA-3340 cable is designed to allow you to charge and transfer data when you want to hold your device comfortably, have a small space, or want the cable to last a long time. The L-shaped design of the cable is more durable - there's not as much risk of the cable slipping out of the part that plugs into your phone.

Charging and data transfer
Don't want to wait to flip peaks between devices while charging? You don't have to! The McDodo CA-3340 cable allows you to charge and transfer data at the same time. This will save you a lot of time. The data transfer speed is up to 480Mbps. The cable features full compatibility with Android devices.

Fast charging
The McDodo cable supports up to 100W chargers so you can charge your device as quickly as possible and get back to your interrupted tasks.

LED indicator
With a good game, time passes very quickly and the battery status bar hides in full-screen mode. To make sure you don't miss the moment of charging, the cable is equipped with an LED indicator.

High durability
The cable has passed the bending test more than 30000 times and the plug and unplug test more than 5000 times, which proves its high durability. In addition, the cable is equipped with a nylon braid, which increases its resistance to mechanical trauma and does not limit its flexibility.
