The Freewell Eiger set consisting of a CPL and two VND filters

The Freewell Eiger set includes a CPL filter and 2 VND filters with a range of 1 to 5 degrees, which will significantly increase the quality of your film productions and achieve the desired effects in dynamic lighting conditions. Thanks to the use of True Color Technology VND, your shots will stand out with realistic colors. In addition, you can manually adjust the level of light attenuation. Take your footage to a new level!

Realistic colors

Thanks to VND's advanced True Color Technology, you can enjoy unparalleled precision and faithful color reproduction, allowing you to create photos and videos of the highest quality. What sets Freewell filters apart from ordinary VND filters? They allow your recordings to retain natural colors even while adjusting the light transmission. So you can say goodbye for good to the problems of color shifts and inaccuracy that can compromise the quality of your work. The VND filter offers convenience and versatility, especially in places where lighting conditions change rapidly." It allows you to quickly achieve the desired exposure in dynamic film scenarios such as outdoor shooting and videography.

Versatility of application

Gain a whole new perspective for creating visual works of art with the Eiger kit. It combines the features of a VND (Neutral Density) filter and a CPL (Circular Polarizer) polarizing filter. It allows you to smoothly adjust light attenuation from 1 to 5 degrees, which is crucial when controlling exposure in different lighting conditions. You can also remove filters in the 1-5 degree range, gaining a CPL filter that eliminates glare and improves color saturation. This is an invaluable support for creatives who strive for perfect visuals.

Convenience of use

Find out that convenience can go hand in hand with functionality. From now on, you can manually adjust the level of light attenuation, enjoying full control over the effects in your shots. The mechanism is intuitive and easy to use. Forget about complicated adjustment processes and concentrate on creating perfect photos and videos.
