Vention HADBI DisplayPort to HDMI cable (3m, black)

The Vention DisplayPort to HDMI cable guarantees crisp 1080p HD (1920 x 1080@60Hz) images and excellent audio-video synchronization. Optimized for connecting a computer to an HDMI monitor or projector, it enables multi-screen expansion and COPY and EXTENSION modes. Its refined design ensures a secure and stable connection under all conditions.

New visual experience

Ready for a new experience when watching movies, playing games or giving presentations? The Vention cable supports 1080p HD video (1920 x 1080@60Hz). As a result, every detail is clearly visible, colors are vibrant and natural, and audio-video synchronization ensures that every scene is smooth and clear.

Various display modes

Bet on a cable that will be reliable in any situation. The Vention product allows not only a standard connection to a monitor or projector, but also to work in 2 particularly useful modes: COPY and EXTENSION. The former allows for uniform display of content on multiple screens, while the latter offers the ability to work on different screens with different content, thus increasing efficiency and flexibility.

Durable and widely compatible

What else sets the Vention cable apart? Robust workmanship, ensuring long life and resistance to damage. The unique design guarantees a secure and stable connection. In addition, the product is compatible with a wide range of devices equipped with DisplayPort and HDMI ports.
